Human Resources Policy Handbook

Document No: ABC-HR-POL-001 | Version: 3.1 | Effective Date: 01 April 2026 | Department: Human Resources

1. Purpose and Applicability

This Human Resources Policy Handbook sets out the core employment policies, standards of conduct, and administrative procedures applicable to all employees of ABC Company (“the Company”). It is intended to promote a fair, safe, and productive workplace, and should be read alongside role-specific policies such as the Leave Policy, Code of Conduct, and IT Acceptable Use Policy.

This handbook applies to all full-time, part-time, and fixed-term employees across all Company locations. Where local labor law provides greater protection or different requirements than stated here, the local law shall prevail.

2. Employment Classification

Employees are classified into the following categories for the purposes of benefits, compensation, and applicable policies:

Classification	Description	Probation Period
Full-Time Permanent	Regular employees working standard Company hours	3 months
Part-Time	Employees working fewer than 30 hours/week	3 months
Fixed-Term Contract	Employees engaged for a defined project or duration	Not applicable
Intern / Trainee	Employees engaged for training or academic credit	Not applicable

Confirmation of employment following probation is subject to satisfactory performance and conduct review, communicated in writing by the Reporting Manager and HR. Probation may be extended by up to 3 additional months at the Company's discretion where performance requires further evaluation.

3. Working Hours and Attendance

Standard working hours are 9:00 AM to 6:00 PM, Monday through Friday, inclusive of a 1-hour unpaid lunch break, totaling 40 working hours per week. Certain roles may follow shift-based schedules as communicated by their respective departments. Employees are expected to record attendance daily via the biometric system or HR Portal, and any deviation from standard hours must be pre-approved by the Reporting Manager.

- A grace period of 10 minutes is permitted for login; repeated late arrivals beyond this may result in a formal notice.
- Employees working remotely must remain reachable during core business hours (10:00 AM – 4:00 PM) and log hours accurately.
- Overtime, where applicable, must be pre-approved and is compensated as per the Compensation Policy or local law.

4. Code of Conduct

All employees are expected to conduct themselves with integrity, professionalism, and respect toward colleagues, clients, and Company property. The following standards apply at all times during employment:

- Treat all colleagues, clients, and visitors with courtesy, regardless of role, background, or seniority.
- Maintain strict confidentiality of Company, client, and employee information, both during and after employment.
- Avoid conflicts of interest; disclose any outside business activity or financial interest that may conflict with Company duties.
- Use Company assets, including IT systems and equipment, solely for legitimate business purposes.
- Report any suspected violation of this Code, fraud, or unethical conduct through the Company's Whistleblower Policy.

5. Anti-Harassment and Anti-Discrimination

ABC Company maintains a zero-tolerance policy toward harassment, discrimination, or retaliation of any kind based on race, gender, religion, age, disability, sexual orientation, or any other legally protected characteristic. This includes verbal, physical, or visual conduct that creates an intimidating, hostile, or offensive work environment.

Employees who experience or witness harassment or discrimination are encouraged to report the matter promptly to their Reporting Manager, HR, or through the confidential Ethics Hotline. All complaints will be investigated promptly, impartially, and confidentially by the Internal Committee, and retaliation against a complainant or witness is strictly prohibited and will result in disciplinary action.

6. Performance Management

Employee performance is formally reviewed twice a year, in April and October, through the Company's Performance Management System. Reviews assess goal achievement, competencies, and development areas, and directly inform decisions on increments, promotions, and training needs. Managers are expected to provide ongoing, constructive feedback throughout the review cycle rather than relying solely on formal appraisal periods.

7. Disciplinary Procedure

Violations of Company policy, underperformance, or misconduct are addressed through a progressive disciplinary process, proportionate to the severity of the issue:

- 1 Verbal Warning – an informal discussion documented in the employee's file for minor, first-time issues.
- 2 Written Warning – a formal written notice issued for repeated or more serious issues, with a defined improvement period.
- 3 Final Written Warning – issued where prior warnings have not resulted in sufficient improvement, or for serious misconduct.
- 4 Termination of Employment – applied for gross misconduct or continued failure to meet required standards after prior warnings.

Cases of gross misconduct, including but not limited to theft, fraud, violence, or serious breach of confidentiality, may result in immediate termination without progressing through the preceding stages, subject to a fair investigation and hearing.

8. Grievance Redressal

Employees with a work-related grievance are encouraged to first raise the matter informally with their Reporting Manager. If unresolved within 10 working days, the employee may escalate the grievance in writing to HR, who will investigate and respond within 15 working days. Employees may further appeal HR's decision to the Head of HR, whose decision shall be final.

9. Resignation and Separation

Employees wishing to resign must submit written notice to their Reporting Manager and HR, with a notice period as specified in their employment contract (typically 30 to 90 days depending on role and seniority). During the notice period, employees are expected to complete a formal handover of responsibilities. Full and final settlement, including any applicable leave encashment and dues, will be processed within 45 days of the last working day, subject to completion of exit formalities and return of Company assets.

10. Policy Review and Amendments

This handbook is reviewed periodically by the Human Resources department and may be revised to reflect changes in labor law, business needs, or organizational structure. Material changes will be communicated to employees via official Company channels at least 30 days prior to the effective date, where feasible. Continued employment following such notice constitutes acceptance of the revised policy.
